MATERIAL SELECTION

You Control Material Composition.

One of our main goals when launching the OptionPak brand, is allowing you, the customer to be in control of your product color, size, style, and composition. This includes resin options such as HDPE, PP, or a combination of resins, it's your choice. Our professional resin experts will work with you to ensure your material preferences meet requirements needed for structural integrity, finished appearance, cost expectations, and overall product life-cycle.

OptionPak offers multiple styles, sizes, and colors. A popular container style that we launched most recently consists of a rectangle base, for better shelf balance and support, an oblong top opening, as well as your choice of a plain front design or an S-curve styled front design. Both options are able to be customized to your needs, including logo options, and color options. These are available as 8" height containers.

Brand owners need packaging that attracts the consumer, represents their brand, and offers flexibility. Consumers want versatile, functional, and convenient packaging that's easy to use, store, and take with them.
